POLICE OFFICE. ARREST FOR CONSPIRACY .- This forenoon officer ARREST FOR CONSPIRACY.— I In Storemon officer frames John Davis arrested P. A. Bigley of Walker street, hear Ludlow, and Nicholas Cassedy of 509 Pearl street, on a bench warrant from the Court of Sessions, on a charge of fating on the 25th of August last, conspired to cheat John Hague, silver pencil maker. No. 12 Dutch street, and with having succeeded in defrauding said Hague of pencil cases. &c. of the value of $130. The affidavit states that Bigley represented himself of Ligouez, a funiterer in extensive business. AC. of the value of $13). The affidavit states that Bigley represented himself to Hague as a fruiterer in extensive business, and as the owner of extensive lots at Harlaem, and that he was worth $3000, free of all indebtedness. Also, that he officied a note for $150 purporting to be drawn by one Andrew Pests of Hudson, to Hague for goods, representing that Feats was the owner of americal slots at Poughkeepsie, and as being worth from $4000 to $5000. Bigley also referred Hague to Micholas Cassedly for information, who, although he knew the olde of Peats had been offered for a mere song, corroborted the statements of Bigley as to the lots and other propertied the statements of Bigley as to the lots and other propertied the statements of Bigley as to the lots and other propertied the statements of Bigley as to the lots and other properties. seed the statements of Bigley as to the lots and other properties of Bigley, and said the note was perfectly good, and that Bigley and Peats were either of them good for $500. Induced by these representations, Hague sold Bigley pencil cases and other projectly of the value of $130—taking the note in payment, and giving $20 in exchange. At maturity the note was priested for non-payment, and the representations of B gley and Cassedy as to the property in lots, &c., and the trust worthiness of Bigley and Peats utterly and entirely false, as rest, was discovered to be a laborer driving a coal cart in this city, and Bigley without responsibility. The grand jury laying indicted the parties, they were arrested as above stated, and each held to bail in $500 to answer. ed the statements of Bigley as to the lots and other proper

SANDS'S SARSAPARILLA .- We hear every day of the cures performed by this excellent p eparation of one of the most valuable roots of the whole materia medica. There are many "extracts of Sarsaparilla" in vogue, but none we believe which equals this. It retains all the peculiar curative qualities of Sarsaparilla, in their natural streng h. This is the secret of the success and the superiority of Sands's preparation, which is becoming more and more consular, as it is betsecret of the success and the superiority of Sands's preparation, which is becoming more and more popular, as it is better known and wider circulated and used. ## Commercial and Money Matters.

For sales at the Stock Exchange, see Last Page. The sales at the Board to-day were considerable out, as we have noticed to be the case on several of the preceding Saturdays, Stocks fell off.

Exchanges are about as before, Sterling 31 a 33 Southern 8 a 84; Francs 5 30 a 5 284.

Money continues very abundant at 31 a 41 cent for first rate paper. Specie has gone South to considerable extent, and we understand the Banks have lost Five Millions since the last quarterly DAVID SPANGLER, of Coshocton.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Mer-chants' Bank of Baltimore, held on Wednesday, a resolution was adopted to petition the State Legis lature for authority to purchase the stock of the Bank to the amount of half a million of dollars, or one-fourth of the capital, at not over $100 per share.

The times seem just now pregnant with defalcations. It is stated in the Harrisburg Telegraph that | blcd, complimenting them upon their choice gives Gen. Hambright, Collector on the Railroad at Lancaster, Pa., is a defaulter to a large amount, from $10,000 to $20,000, but the exact sum is not given. A voung man at Providence has swindled his employers out of $1500; and the Cashier of the Commercial Bank of Portsmouth is suspected of four play. The Portsmouth Journal says an examination was going on by the new President. "Monday last was the day assigned for the investigation. Early in the morning the Cashier opened the Bank to warm it, and went to breakfast. The President met the Cashier in the street enhis return, and they went to the Bank together. When they arrived at the door the Cashier placed his hand in his pocket and ascertained that he had lost the key of the door. A key which had been in possession of the watchman of the Bank was then obtained, and the President and Cashier entered together. The latter immediately exclaimed that some one had been in the Bank since he left it, as his books had been removed from their place. On opening the books it was found that they had been mutilated by having leaves forn out, some wholly gone, others forn half way in. An unburnt fragment of one of the leaves was found in the stove. The circumstances were so strongly against the Cashier that a temporary Cashier was appointed and an investigation commenced by the Directors of the Bink, which has been unremittingly continued to the present time. No evidence of defalcation or mismuningement has yet been certainly discovered, and until such discovery is made the hitherto irreproachable character of the late Cashier should not be impeached. Sufficient investigation has been made to show that the public are perfectly safe, as well as the stockholders, and that the business of the Bank will not be interrupted." tion was going on by the new President. memory of an eminently good man. JACOB MORRIS, the second son of Gen. LEWIS Morris, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, was born at Morrisiana on the 28th December, 1755. The commencement of the Revolutionary war found him a clerk in a mercantile house in Philadelphia, which he left to bccome aid-de-camp to General LEE. With him he was present at the battles of Fort Moultrie and Monmouth, and escaped capture at Morristown with General Lee, by being casually absent was for a short time one of the aids of General Arnold, and it is remarkable that this spotted traitor should have had in his military family two young men of so much purity and excellence of character as General JACOB MORRIS and General MATTHEW CLARKSON. He became a settler on Morris's Patent in 1787, and so entirely unbroken was the wilderness at that time, that during his attendance on the Legislature of New-York as Assemblyman from Montgomery county, for four months his wife saw the face of no white person except her own children. At the election of Otsego county in 1791, during the administration of GEO. CLINTON, he was appointed Clerk of that County, and held that office until 1801. He was repeatedly elected to the Assembly from Otsego, and Senator from the Western District, and was appointed Major General in the militia of the State. Gen. WASHINGTON and Governor JAY honored him with their personal confidence and friendship. Gen. La Favette knew and esteemed him. He expressed to his son, one of the last Americans who saw him, on his death bed, his respect and veneration for his father's character. [Albany Evening Journal.
